RED SOX MAKE BIG GAIN BY DEFEATING MIGHTY ALEXANDER

Duffy Lewis Hitz in Ninth Inning, Scoring Winning Run With Two Outs—Big Park De-cides Game.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Boston, Mass., Oct. 12.—The Boston Red Sox gained a decided jump toward the world series' title Monday, when they defeated the Phillies in one of the most sensational games ever played in an inter-league exhibition, by the score of 2 to 1. This leaves the Boston club leading with two games to one for the Philadelphia Nationals.

The victory is a gigantic stride for the Boston Red Sox, as they defeated Alexander—the one hope whom the Phillies relied upon to win. With the mighty Alexander out of the way for a day at least, the Boston fans are confident that the series will end in three more games. "Dutch" Leonard, a southpaw, pitched against the Phillies, and while he opposed the brilliant Alexander, he outpitched him, allowing but three hits, while Alexander yielded six to the swarming Americans. Alexander was great yesterday, pitching far better than he did in the opening game, which he did not win. But the Americans beat Alexander because they were a far better balanced ball team than Moran's men.

The size of the gigantic Braves' ball park saved Monday's game for the Sox. But for the immense out-field the Nationals would have won the game by at least the score of 4 to 2. The size of the park allowed 43,000 people to witness the game, a new attendance record by over four thousand. With both Leonard and Alexander working in tip-top form, forcing batters to make easy outs to the outfield, two innings passed by without a run and but one hit. In the third the Phillies gained the jump on the Sox when Burns singled over Barry's head. Alexander bunted toward third and was safe when Hoblitzel muffed the throw from Gardner, his first blunder. Burns went to second. Stock bunted down third and Barry took the throw at first. Two were on the far corners. Bancroft hit a fast one through Leonard, scoring Burns. Alexander stopped on third. At this point Barry saved certain defeat by the feature catch of the day when he twisted back, jumped and caught a Texas leaguer back of second, holding Alexander on third. Cravath drove a terrific drive far back, but Lewis was playing deep and the ball was caught. This ball would have been a home run easily on the Phillies' grounds. Sharp, holding, featured to play, and Luderus had but three put-outs on first. In the fourth inning the Red Sox tied the score when Speaker hit a fast ball for three bases. Hoblitzel put out a long fly and Speaker scored from third after the catch. Defensive fielding kept both sides scoreless until the ninth, when the crisis came. Hooper lined a single. Scott was at bat and twice failed to bunt. He crossed the Philadelphia infield, who then played back, by bunting on the third strike and Niohoff threw Scott out, but Hooper was safe at second. That play was the break of the game. Speaker faced Alexander, the world's greatest pitcher against the best batter in the series. It was a challenge but Alexander played safe and passed Speaker, fearing his war club and wishing to work on Hoblitzel. The dope went right for Hoblitzel ground-out. Lewis was at bat, with two outs, and on the first pitched ball drove a clean single over second that scored the winning run.

Barry's Catch the Feature of Monday's Game

Jack Barry.

There have been players who have figured in the golden harvest of as many as four world's series, but Jack Barry, formerly with the Athletics, now with the Red Sox, is the only artisan known to baseball to ever figure in five such princely divisions. His first four netted him exactly $10,985.38, and possibly he'll have something like $14,000 to his credit when the approaching debates are determined.

HIGHS ARE TO PLAY GAME WITH ALUMNI

High School Football Team Will Play Second Game With Alumni—Play Will Coach Freshmen.

This week the football team of the Janesville high school is being put through some very stiff practice. Tomorrow afternoon at three-thirty they will play the alumni again at the fair grounds. The alumni will be loaded up for this game and they say they will make up for the defeat they received two weeks ago. Saturday the highs will run up against the Fort Atkinson high school team at the local fair grounds. The class teams are practicing every night and these contests will prove to be very exciting. About fifty of the boys of the freshman class held a football meeting this noon and Stanley Ryan, who will coach their team, gave a short talk and urged all of them to come out to practice so that first and second teams could be formed.

YOUNG SCOTTY DRAWS A SIX DAY SUSPENSION

At a meeting of the State Boxing Commission Monday Young Scotty, Milwaukee featherweight, drew a six day suspension for rough work in his bout recently with a Chicago boxer. He was told a repetition of the offense would mean a year's vacation. The boxing commission also had Ritchie Mitchell before them for stalling in his bout with Kibane, but the Cream City favorite did not draw a suspension. Kibane did not show up on the order. Le Barre and Eddie Moha, charged with roughing, were given a thirty day suspension.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE BILL AT MYERS

Local and Imported Talent Give Good Show to Appreciative Audience.

Nine vaudeville acts were presented at Myers Theatre last evening, nearly all of which were well received and responded to encores.

Opening the bill was a pleasing overture by the entire Myers Theatre orchestra. Miss Arma Mitchell, director, Bill McDonald and Sterling Campbell were then seen in a comedy acrobatic tumbling act that had more merit than most of the tumbling acts that come here.

With a little more speed running their act off faster these boys would have a mighty good act.

Miss Manilla Powers, a well known young lady of charming personality rendered several delightful songs and responded to a number of enthusiastic encores.

Miss Powers was accompanied by Miss Marjorie Merrill.

Nearly everybody knows Roy Ryan and his buck-and-winged last night put him still larger in the public eye.

Roy does some clever steps and the audience liked to see his feet twinkle.

That her act "went over" for Miss Evelyn Clark is putting it mildly. Her singing and dancing were the best seen on a vaudeville stage in Janesville for some time.

Therman & Wells presented a number of the newest dances in a manner beyond reproach. They led the audience through all the intricacies of the modern dances.

And then came Jack Lauder, who the facetious press agent had billed as "Harry's Oldest Son" and who attempted to imitate the inimitable Harry Lauder in some of his famous songs and Scottish dances.

F. W. Murphy surely can whistle and he gave several delightful solos responding to a number of encores.

"Food for Squirrels" as put on by Preston & Jobe was a scream. They have an act that would score success anywhere.

The Booster Quartette deserves special mention. Their singing was of the best order, well received and round after round of applause followed each song.

Those acts will be seen at Myers Theatre again this evening.

The exhibits of the harder fruits and vegetables and grains were excellent, both in number and quality. There were more than 50 entries of apples, consisting of twenty different varieties.

In the domestic science department prizes were awarded on the cooking and sewing by the girls of the high school, grades and ladies of the community. The display of flowers, mostly dahlias and asters, was extensive and beautiful. The educational department consisted of notebooks in history, English, science, bookkeeping and penmanship.

The merchants and business men of Milton generously offered prizes on the exhibits. A five-minute college farce served as a climax to the occasion, being given at nine o'clock Thursday night. The farce was coached by Miss Humphrey of the English department.

JANESVILLE DRUGGISTS, ATTENTION!

Advertising today is THE GREATEST FORCE in promoting sales. A series of advertisements that tell about the store and the store policy—in other words, that build up that store's "Good Will," and that also give an opportunity to run in some items such as toilet articles, soaps, etc., etc., is the most effective kind of store advertising.

We have an opportunity to secure for ONE Janesville druggist—exclusive—a set of five strongly written and beautifully illustrated "Good Will" advertisements with space for various items. We say "one druggist, exclusively." Only one druggist in Janesville can get this series. Therefore while this opportunity is open to you all, it means first come, first served. This is a wonderful service—the art work alone cost $150.00.

THIS SERIES IS FREE

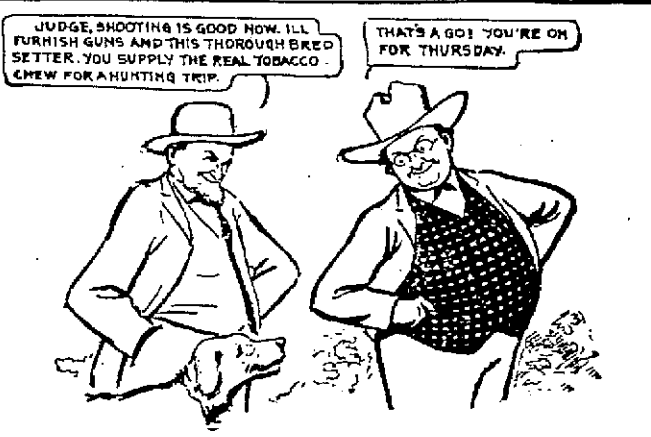

to one druggist, the first who decides he wants it. Mind you it is now open to you all, so please be a good sport and smile a bit if you are late in getting after it and some other druggist is successful.

THE GOOD JUDGE ARRANGES TO GO BIRD SHOOTING

WHEN you're tramping all over creation after game, you don't want a big bunch of ordinary tobacco sweating in your hip pocket. There is tobacco satisfaction for two, and plenty of it, in the sweat-proof sanitary pouch of Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW REAL TOBACCO CHEW—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

Controlling Your Life.

The things that happen to us and the way we take them, these two factors make up the whole of life. The things that happen to us we can only partially control; the way we take them we can entirely control. And yet, while most people struggle and plan and contrive all their lives long to control the things that happen to them, comparatively few see themselves as controlling the way they take these things.

I am speaking not only of the big things that happen now and then, but of the little things that happen every day and hour and minute.

When the Child Upsets the Milk. At a dinner table in a certain house where I once stayed, one of the children upset a cup of milk.

The father, a man of nervous, irritable habits, at once began to fuss. "Look at that milk, all over the tablecloth and the floor! It will ruin the carpet. Look out or it will get on your dress, Margaret! Can't you be less awkward?"—to the embarrassed child. "There it goes onto that chair!"

During this tirade the mother had swiftly but quietly righted the cup, mopped up the milk, laid a napkin over the soiled spot and soothed the child, who was ready to burst into tears, all without any appearance of hurry, any show of nervousness or irritability. Having done all that could be done, she said to her husband, "I have done my best. The spot could easily be removed from the carpet, and closed the incident by offering one guest some more berries and asking the other some question which sent the conversation to pleasant channels.

The Art of Taking the Sting Out of Annoyances. I had always admired that woman, but I admired her more at that moment than ever before.

For she showed that she was past mistress of the great art of taking the sting out of the minor annoyances of life by not permitting them to upset one's peace.

There are so many things that one can fuss about if one wants to fuss! At a boarding house where I once lived the hostess did not dare shift certain of the guests from their places at the table, no matter what the exigencies of the occasion. "They'd fuss," she said. Such a little thing! Think of fussing over it!

Don't Forget the Funny Side. Either most of the little annoyances and accidents and upsets and disappointments of daily life have their funny side. Get the habit of seeing it. You won't be so inclined to fuss. Say, "It will be serene." Laugh, if you can possibly find anything to laugh at, remedy the evil if there is anything to remedy, but through it all, keep your peace. Remember, fussing will not change or help matters a particle, and it will tire you and everyone around you. You can't control the world, but you can control your attitude of mind toward them. And he who does it is surely "greater than he that taketh a city."

else to. Go to the dance and have the time of your life. If you can; and if you can't, pretend to have. Be friendly to the other girl and do show in the slightest way that you are jealous of her. Clothes count for something, of course, but they are not so powerful as personality to attract. Dress simply and be all that you can be. You will get along all right.

Household Hints

CRABAPPLES MAKE EXCELLENT DISHES

Crabapple Jelly—Wash the apples and cut out all imperfections. Then put them in the preserving kettle, cover with water, and cook until the apples are very soft. Pour into a strainer, and drain, but do not squeeze them unless to press very lightly, or the jelly will not be so clear. Measure the juice, and to each pint add a pint of sugar, wash the kettle, replace the juice, and boil until it thickens. Skim frequently while it is boiling. To try the jelly, dip a spoonful out in a saucer. If boiled enough it will become firm in a few moments. If the apples are not very sour, use a little less sugar.

Crabapple Preserves—The apples may be halved, or quartered, and the cores removed, or preserved whole. For this purpose the most perfect apples should be selected, as those from which the imperfections may be removed are quite as good for jelly. Boil them in clear water, or steam them until tender, but not broken or mushy. If the apples are steamed the water they are cooked in, and be careful to strain them out. Add to the water three-fourths pound of sugar to a pound of fruit. Put in the apples as soon as the syrup boils clear, which will take but a few minutes, and cook two or three minutes, then can.

Crabapple Jam—This is very nice for cake filling, or sauce, and is a "saving" as the apples from which the juice has been drained for jelly are used. Sift them through a fine colander, to remove all seeds, cores, etc., and a cup of sugar to a cup of the fruit, and a little water if necessary, and cook slowly, taking care that it does not scorch. Can as usual, if desired, be thickened with a few minutes, and cook two or three minutes, then can.

Crabapple Pie—Put the apples on with just water enough to cover them. Press through a colander, sweeten to taste, and bake with two crusts, flavored with nutmeg or cinnamon, or bake with one crust with strips of pastry across, or frost or glaze. This is very nice sweetened with sweet cream.

Peas in Syrup—Twelve pease, two cups sugar, two cups water, juice and pulp of one orange, the same of half a lemon. Put water and sugar on to boil, then add the peas, and cook for five minutes. Pare and core the peas, put into boiling syrup and boil until tender. Cover while boiling, add orange and lemon juice when nearly done, as they will keep several days, enough for two or three meals can be prepared at once.

Graham Gems—One cup graham flour, one-half cup white flour, three tablespoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon molasses, four of butter, one egg, one and one-third cups sweet milk. Sift white flour and baking powder into bowl, add graham flour, salt, sugar, molasses, butter, egg well beaten and milk. Stir well for two minutes. Have gem pans well heated and bake twenty minutes.

Cookies—Two cups sugar, one cup butter, two eggs, one cup sour cream, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons

MOTHERS' MEETING AT "Y" THURSDAY

Invitations Being Sent Out to the Mothers of Boy Members—Will Organize Committee.

The boys' division of the Young Men's Christian association has been for a week and never before has there been so much enthusiasm and satisfaction expressed among so large a number of young boys. The organization is advancing and now over a hundred invitations are being sent out to the mothers of the boy members, inviting them to come to a meeting which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, October fourteenth, at two-thirty.

The purpose of this meeting will be to organize a mothers' committee, which will aid the boys in such activities as the Y. M. C. A. has in mind. The committee will be in charge of the association to conduct without the aid of the mothers. Boys' secretary H. J. Center, states: "Through the only sent out one hundred invitations. I hope we will have one hundred and fifty in attendance." A very interesting program

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MISS DALE LEONARD

"Oh, my dear Mrs. Ellsah," cried Molly Suther, "it's absolutely a hopeless case. I tried so hard yesterday; prepared my meals with the greatest care, had the house in perfect order, wore a clean dress; everything was going well and I thought I might win the whole thing over by making a scene over a handkerchief I was on the floor."

"A handkerchief? I don't understand," said Olivia. "John had a set of books to straighten. You know I told you he had earned extra money by doing outside work like that. Working away so hard and I came into the room and saw a dainty handkerchief on the floor by his chair or his pocket. But if John found a faint Julia, a jealous rage seized me. I interrupted John's work to inquire about it. That made him angry, of course, and he said I was a dog in the manger."

"Why should a handkerchief make you feel that way?" asked her friend. "Oh, don't you see? I know he does not love me anymore and there is nothing more natural than for me to find some one else whom he will love. You see, he is thrown in with the stenographer all day. I know how it was: what time he used to have in the office before I was married."

"Well, aren't you glad he can have a little innocent fun mixed in with his day's work?" Her friend smiled. "If he loved me, and we could talk everything over it would be different, but he never talks to me, and the thought of the good times they have in the office is a great fiery pain. It shows me how utterly out of his life I am."

"My dear girl, jealousy, scenes, hateful remarks—these things are the wall you are building up between yourself and your husband, and the higher you build it the longer will be the road back to peace. Men hate scenes, and till you can learn self-control, till you can keep your spiteful thoughts to yourself, you can never hope to regain your husband's love."

"You said scenes were a poor thing to use to kindle love," wailed Molly. "Love in a tender, delicate plant; it must be protected from rough storms if it is to thrive," continued Olivia.

"Oh, I might as well give up; it is a hopeless case," Molly leaned her head on her hands and gazed despairingly out of the window. "Nothing is hopeless so long as one is teachable, I might sympathize with you, and tell you your husband was treating you cruelly, and make you feel abused. I might say many things that are true enough, but they would get you nowhere. I want to help you, dear, by showing you how you can help yourself. Wouldn't you rather I did that even if it does hurt?" Olivia caressed her hand.

"Oh, yes, help me! I need to be hurt. You have been blundering along in the dark, and you have had many falls, but if you get up every time you fall, sometime you will remain standing. You will make many mistakes, it is up and down many times, but you must get up and so on. Every time you hold your tongue when you feel tempted to say a hateful thing you make the next victory easier. As you gradually gain control, gain peace, your atmosphere will change. Your husband will feel the difference. If I could only make you see that it is your own inner attitude that affects conditions around you," said Olivia.

"You mean if I had been what I ought to have been, things would never have reached this pass. I know that, of course, but the conditions are here. I can't change them now."

"Your mistakes have created these conditions," when you have learned your lesson, conditions will change. I feel sure of it. Set yourself courageously to learn your lesson of self-control and everything will work out all right."

"Thank you, dear friend. I could be near you all the time I could be strong, but my strength oozes out of my gripings when alone. Molly rose and kissed her friend. "Get up every time you fall; sometime you will remain standing," was the parting word as she went down the walk.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Why Is The Family Doctor? An old-time specialist recently made some pertinent observations upon the "passing of the family doctor."

He was deploring old-time practice which consisted of looking at the tongue, pulse and temperature, scribbling a shotgun mixture to fit the patient's own diagnosis. That sort of thing isn't passing; it passed some time ago.

A correspondent, a literary woman, asks what one is to do when one has no family and consequently no family physician.

Answer—Have a doctor and stick to him through the years. The habit of running from one specialist or near-specialist to another, the "foot specialist" who advises from an economical standpoint, if health is really wealth, as philosophers say, a specialist may be very fatally handicapped by the expert opinion of the patient's regular physician. The family doctor knows about your constitution, your idiosyncrasies, your habits, your temperament, your personal medical history, and especially the nature of past illnesses which may have a vital influence upon the present trouble.

We always hear when John Jones goes away to see the great specialist of his own choosing. But if John comes home disappointed we rarely get the news—that is a matter which John prefers not to talk about. When a patient picks his own specialist, he is very likely to pick the wrong man.

A good specialist is a man whose patients come from family doctors who know and respect the specialist's skill in his particular field. A near-specialist is one who gets the patients direct from the market, without regard to the family doctor's ideas. There is a lot of difference though many unfortunately do not realize it until too late.

In this respect, at least, the family doctor is still indispensable. He knows better than any one else which specialist to select for a given case. If he has your confidence and you have his good will, as you should in the circumstances, the doctor will see that you get what you need when you need it.

Just the other day a "wiseheimer" fellow with foot trouble consulted a so-called "foot specialist" who applied a pair of arch props and the poor fellow a pair of special shoes. The "expert" gave various "treatments" for several weeks. Finally the victim had to call in the family doctor, who found that the "foot trouble" was due to locomotor ataxia. The family doctor would have been cheaper in the first place. But the wise ones can't see it that way. "What's the use of going to an ordinary doctor?" they argue, like children. "Why not see a specialist right away?"

Normal Temperature. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. What is the normal temperature for a child? Answer—Ninety-eight to Ninety-nine degrees.

Whooping-Cough Vaccine. Please state your opinion of whooping-cough vaccine as a preventive and treatment. Answer—For either purpose it deserves trial.

SOCIETY FOR PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO GOLDFISH IS FORMED IN BROOKLYN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Goldfish, sometimes known as The American Federation of Goldfish fanciers, convened on Nevyn street here today to usher the pink-eyed plutocrat of fishdom into his own.

He will be awarded blue ribbons that he can't wear; and gold medals that won't show. He is here, nevertheless, $10,000 strong, swimming and diving and cavorting about to win 'em. President S. Chichester Lloyd has been struggling for ten years to alleviate goldfish suffering. He knows them from the ocean up. He told today of dreary life in a glass bowl; of an annual butchery of gold fish, $14,000,000 he says, which makes the Armenian massacre look like a chauntauqua salute.

He said that any man who tried to feed a goldfish on dog-biscuits is barking up the wrong aquarium. For dog-fish, possibly for catfish, dog-biscuits would do, but for gold-fish, never. For countless sons of the gold-fish has suffered in will-o'-the-wisp, never so much as lifting a fin in his own defense, he shall be retributed and rewarded and made much of by the association, said Lloyd.

"GET ACQUAINTED" MOVEMENT STARTED AT THE UNIVERSITY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—The Daily Cardinal, the official students' publication at the university, has started a campaign to get students acquainted at the university. In an editorial announcement of its campaign it deplores the attitude of some students never speaking to another unless formally introduced and suggests that each student greet those whose faces are familiar every morning with a "good morning."

"As soon as you get a man's features fixed in your memory speak to him," says the editorial. "And you Wisconsin women. Why hesitate in owing to a classmate whom you know is a nice fellow unless you have gone through that 'pleased to meet you' process? How trivial it is anyhow! If you but knew the happiness in meeting a lonely freshman's heart by an old given bow and smile from you. We brag about our Wisconsin Democracy. Action speaks louder than words. We'll start it. A hearty good morning to you all."

The convenience of having enough pure milk on hand to supply your daily needs, and for emergencies, is one big feature of Carnation Milk.

One can or a dozen—it keeps sweet and pure until you need it—for cooking, baking, whipping or drinking.

CARNATION MILK

Clean—Sweet—Pure From Contented Cows

Carnation Milk is just fresh, pure cow's milk—evaporated to the thickness of cream. Nothing is added—nothing removed but water. It is hermetically sealed and sterilized to preserve its wholesomeness and purity.

Keep a supply of Carnation Milk on hand. Order from your grocer—"The Carnation Milkman."

At great expense we are seeking to place a Karo Aluminum Griddle in the homes of all Karo users, so that Karo—the famous spread for griddle cakes and waffles—may be served on the most deliciously baked cakes that can be made.

Karo the Syrup Choice on Thousands of American Tables

THE woman who keeps the syrup pitcher filled knows better than anyone else how strong the men of her household are for Karo on the griddle cakes, hot biscuits, bread and waffles.

She may not know how many thousand cans of Karo are used in her home state, but she does know how often her own Karo pitcher is emptied. The forehanded housewife buys Karo by the dozen and keeps it in the pantry ready for the daily filling of the syrup pitcher.
